~21,000 MW of Market opportunity requiring potential investment of $42 billion over the next 10 years

Competitive Advantages:

- Creation of operational and corporate synergies
- Ability to use tax attributes in the U.S.
- Ability to manage merchant risk
- Multiple funding sources

TransAlta is well positioned to capture significant growth opportunities in our core markets

- Alberta market continues to see considerable demand growth due to industrial & mining activity and its indirect impacts
- Market will also see significant retirements in capacity in the next 10 years
 - 800 MW of coal retiring in 2019
 - Between 1,200 and 3,200 MW of new capacity, above what is currently being built, is required by 2020
- Large combined cycle (CCGT) units offers the most efficient and competitive technology given the scale of generation replacement required
- Site selected
- Turbines secured and long-term service agreement in place
- Key work underway regarding interconnection and permitting
- Continue with contracting strategy to de-risk the project and preserve project returns
